Transition-Age Youth (TAY) Civil Legal Practice Exchange

The TAY Civil Legal Practice Exchange is a group of civil legal advocates across California that convenes regularly to share resources, exchange technical assistance, develop referral pathways, and identify recurring issues related to the civil legal needs of transition-age young people. The Practice Exchange provides monthly webinars for advocates on a variety of TAY-specific topics including housing, access to services, and transition-planning among many others. We also host a monthly workshopping hour which offers a more interactive, collaborative space to brainstorm and problem-solve around recurring issues in TAY advocacy work across the state. Contact Marisa Lopez-Scott, Staff Attorney, at mlopez@ylc.org for more information or to join.

Pathways to Higher Education Practice Exchange

YLC's Pathways to Higher Education project advocates for expanded access to postsecondary education opportunities for young people who are or have been involved in the California juvenile justice system. The Pathways project reimagines higher education as an alternative to incarceration and a support system equipping youth to live in their community and find success. Youth Law Center advocacy staff are available to support QLSP attorneys and their currently or formerly systems-involved clients in accessing and succeeding in higher education. For more info, contact Katie Bliss, YLC's CA Higher Education Coordinator, at kbliss@ylc.org.

About YLC

Youth Law Center (YLC) is a nonprofit legal advocacy organization that has worked for four decades to transform foster care and juvenile justice systems across the nation so every child and youth can thrive. YLC's advocacy aims to ensure children and youth are not only protected from harm and dangerous conditions in systems but also receive the support, opportunities, and love they need to grow up healthy and happy. We pursue these goals through child-focused, research-informed advocacy strategies including litigation, policy reform, media advocacy, collaborative system-change projects, training and advice, and public education.
